

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation. The public airwaves, which Sinclair uses free of charge, should not be used for one-sided propaganda that does not serve the public interest but on the contrary furthers divisive, partisan politics and harms our system of democracy.

Sinclair is obligated by law to serve the public interest. But when large companies control the airwaves, we get more of what's good for the bottom line and less of what we need.

Thank you.
